

MONETTA, S.C. – There are different ways to describe what has taken hold this week in the hearts and minds of the Upper State Champion Ridge Spring-Monetta High Trojans.

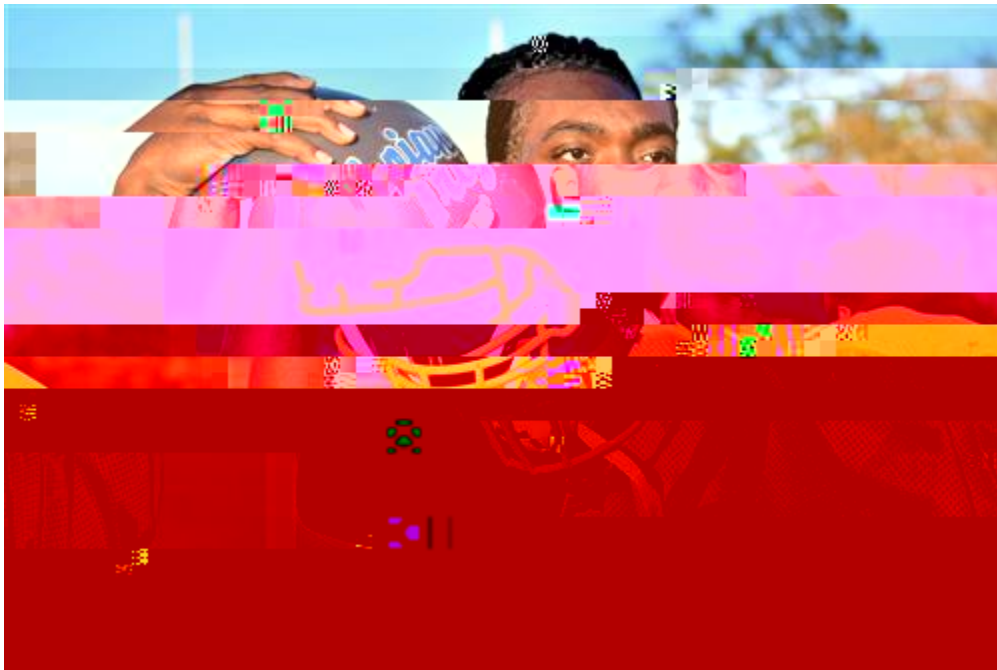

ever put on that helmet walks on that field with you on Friday night, and you will carry their hopes and dreams that they didn't get to finish."

Rodgers told the current Trojans that Friday was their time to shine.

"This is what you've worked for," Rodgers told the Trojans. "I've put that uniform on. I've bled out on that field. You are standing somewhere that's special. All you have is this year. You are never guaranteed to be here and be in this position again. In life, all you can ask for is one opportunity and one shot to see what you can do. This is your shot."

His message resonated with the Trojans.

"I'm hungry and ready to play," commented Tray Dean, who leads the team defensively with over 100 tackles from his position at defensive end. "Playing in the state championship is something new and something we've never had happen with this team so it feels amazing to have this opportunity."

"This is our time," stated sophomore quarterback Remedee Leaphart. "Everyone counted us out and thought we would lose in the first round, but we're still here and we've shocked the world so we just have to keep it going."

When Leaphart is asked whether the Trojans have one more "shocking" performance in them, he looks up and answers with conviction.

"Oh, definitely."

THE OPPONENT

As the defending Class A state champions, the Green Sea-Floyds Trojans are likely the favorites in Friday's game for many, and for good reason. They have throttled their competition for the vast majority of the season scoring more than 60 points three times while posting three shutouts and holding opposing teams to single-digit scoring in all but two games on defense. Their lone loss was to Class 3-A opponent Aynor High School, which finished the season at 11-1.

"They run the ball really well," Smith said of the opposing Trojans. "They have a great running back and the quarterback runs the ball hard. They run two tight ends and two flankers with a single back, or they run a single wing set and run it right at you. Their back gets lots of yards after contact so we have to be cognizant of that and have guys get to the football and make the tackle."

Just as they were in the lead up to the Upper State title game, turnovers will be key. However, Smith said he feels special teams play may provide a similar opportunity in the state title game.

"Anytime you score on defense is a great night," Smith said of recent interception returns for scores from Dantrell Weaver, and Tray Dean's fumble recovery for a touchdown against Wagener-Salley. "In the playoffs we've had a good little run of that here for a while, but you can't count on that every night. We are going to have to get one in the kicking game this week. We have to work a little harder and the kids know that. Our defense has been playing well and we've built some momentum, so we have to keep it up four more days and play our best game on Friday."

Dean, a senior, echoed those sentiments.

"We have to stop the run and be confident on defense," Dean added. "I'm going to do my best out there and have some fun."

"We have to hold onto the ball, go out and make good plays and keep our heads up if we make a bad play," commented Leaphart. "If you make a bad play you just put it behind you and go score a touchdown on the next play and bring it home. There's no extra pressure. I just make sure the team stays positive and keep a smile on my face."

Leaphart makes one thing very clear. He and his Trojans teammates are focused and ready to go.

"We expect to win."
